

'I'M A SOCIETY WOMAN,' SAYS MRS. BRIGGS

So She Couldn't Talk to Elevator Men, She Asserts in Her Suit Against Broker Barnard.

$100,000 MARRIAGE OFFER

That she was a society woman rather than a woman of business, was the declaration of the witness, Mrs. Jennie L. Briggs, in her testimony in the case against Augustus H. Barnard, a prominent broker, who was charged with defrauding her out of more than $100,000.

The statement today rested its case and Mrs. Briggs was recalled to the stand as the first witness for the defense by Lawyer James H. Valley, who represented Broker Barnard. Mrs. Briggs testified that she was acquainted with Augustus H. Barnard, an elevator man at 23 State street, where Mrs. Barnard has her office. She was questioned by Mr. Valley.

Says She is a Society Woman.

Q—Did you ever speak to Mr. O'Connell? A—Why, certainly not. I'm above talking to elevator men. I'm a society woman.

Q—Did you tell him that you were not a society woman? A—No, I do not know of any money. I do not know of any money. I do not know of any money.

Mrs. Briggs said that she was interested in the elevator business, and had been interested in a real estate business as well. She said that she did not know any money in the latter period.

$100,000 Offer of Marriage.

Q—Did Mr. Barnard (James H.) of Providence offer you $100,000 if you would marry him?

The face of the woman flushed, and she said a loud "no." She was then asked about marriage.

This question produced a sensation in the crowded court room, and she said that it would be brought out later in the trial. She said that she was not a society woman, and that she was not a society woman.

Q—Did you ever tell Mr. Barnard that you were not a society woman?

A—No, I never told him that. I never told him that. I never told him that. I never told him that.

Q—Did you ever tell Mr. Barnard that you were not a society woman?

A—No, I never told him that. I never told him that. I never told him that. I never told him that.

NEWBURGH, Pa., April 2.—Is that you, Mr. Barnard?

Dr. William Lord Smith was the lecturer at the Sportsmen's Show last night, talking on tiger hunting. Dr. Smith made a trip through Asia some two years ago, making numerous animal studies, and he told of his experiences in the jungles of India, where he hunted tigers.

Dr. Smith's lecture was well received, and he was asked many questions. He said that he had seen many tigers, and that he had killed several of them. He said that he had seen many tigers, and that he had killed several of them.

"COZY" DOWN TO REST BY COMRADES

Baseball Players of League Clubs Mourn at Bier of Diamond Favorite.

CHUMS ACT AS BEARERS

With many of his old ball player friends in attendance, including all of the members of the Boston national team, "Cozy" Doan, the diamond favorite, was laid to rest today in St. Paul's cemetery at Arlington.

The body was taken from the house of his father at No. 101, Prospect street, Southfield, to St. Joseph's Church on Union square. The service was led by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley, pastor of St. Joseph's.

At the church a copious mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley, assisted by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley, assisted by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley.

No eulogy was pronounced on the dead player by any dignitary, but the virtues of the former member of the Boston National team were extolled in casual conversation by his friends.

His such large numbers and the position he held over the country, attracted the eyes of all who saw him. The funeral was a grand affair, and the remains were carried to the grave in a procession of mourners.

The ceremony in the church was most impressive. At the cemetery graves were dug by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley, assisted by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley, assisted by the Rev. Father J. J. Connelley.

STANDS UP FOR MITCHELL IN HERESY TRIAL

President of Methodist Preachers' Union Protests Against Procedure of Bishops.

MINISTERS ADD SUPPORT

CINCINNATI, April 2.—Protesting against the manner in which the Board of Bishops has been trying the case of Professor H. G. Mitchell of Boston University, as a charge of heresy, Rev. W. C. Chas. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, president of the Methodist Preachers' Union, in his farewell address to that body, declared that the fundamental principle of the church is that which would be lost to the top of the head.

Immediately there was a storm, mostly of protest. However, a vote of the ministers sided with Dr. Chas.

The Board of Bishops received him (Chas.) practically condemned already, and with his case unjustly rendered. Here is a great scholar of whom the Methodist church has well be proud, virtually cast out, said Dr. Chas.

Now, I am opposed to making any more theological decisions. The kind of trial is within you. You cannot write it in books. It is to have service and faith, four things which will be lost as various and placed on the top of the head. We may keep them as we do our "Rule of Conduct for Preachers," which we have not destroyed but which we simply preserve as a relic, although it is not to be observed and enforced in this day, it represents the loss of the past.

140,000 SOLDIERS IN THE ROOMS

Huge Army Intimidates Rebellious Peasants and Ends Conflict.

TROOPS NOW UNDER CURB

BUCHAREST, Roumania, April 2.—Near 140,000 soldiers are under arms in Roumania to suppress the peasant uprisings. With this great force at the disposal of the government the situation is quieting down somewhat.

The curbs have been placed on the troops to end their brutalities and thus prevent further agitation. At the same time the troops, realizing the havoc which can be wrought by the soldiers if fresh repressive measures are resorted to, are ceasing their activity.

In some of the provinces refugees who fled while the troubles were at their height have returned home. Efforts are being made to repair the damage wrought by the rioters.

While the situation is thus much improved, the danger is by no means over. Thousands of peasants are still marching through the country burning estates and attacking landlords.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 2.—Marvin Hart had the casual look of a time-deflecting Peter Maber, once aspirant for the world's heavyweight championship. Last night, the Louisville scrapper, winning on a knockout in the second round.

At no stage of the fight was Maber in it. It was plain when he entered in the ring that he was not in the shape of a man put up to a fair fight. Maber only landed one blow.

In the first round, Maber was sent to the floor with a blow to the stomach, and almost lost the foul count. In the second round when he went back to the ring, he was again sent to the floor by a punch on the jaw was the last thing he did.

DEAF AND DUMB FATHER HAPPY; WHENS HIS BOY

Court Awards William E. Shaw
Custody of Little Son That Grandmother Wanted.

WILL MAKE HIM FINE MAN

William E. Shaw, deaf mute, has won, through a decision of Judge Grant of the Probate Court, the custody of his little son and namesake. When little William was a mother died, he was taken to charge by his grandmother, Mrs. Lucy T. Church, and she did not want to surrender the child when Mr. Shaw married again. But the father got possession of the lad when out of the grandmother's control, and then Mrs. Church appealed to the Probate Court. She said that a deaf mute could not talk or hear was not able to properly rear a child who had full possession of his faculties.

But Judge Grant, after hearing all the evidence and statements offered in support of the grandmother's claim, decided that Shaw would go back to his father. Mr. Shaw was overjoyed at this ruling of the court, which had attracted widespread attention. "I am so glad that I have a fine case. No one can imagine how happy I am to see my little boy with me again for the first time. It has been a hard fight and I am so relieved that the outcome is over. My lawyer, Mr. A. & O. Church, has fought so well, and I feel sure that a higher court will affirm the decision. I shall have to be thankful to him."

Poor "Chick" Stahl's Suicide

It Proves That the Man with the "Soft
Job" Need Not Always Be Envious

The other day the poor fellow, in a fit of nervous desperation, ended his own life, after telling his friends that he could no longer stand the strain on his head.

The fate of this good-hearted, well-developed, strong man may help to reconcile some of us to hard work.

It may change the minds of those who believe the man who simply MANAGES has a very easy life and is much to be envied.

The man digging an oil well, as he works at hard labor, for long hours, thinks that he would be very much happier if he were only Rockefeller, with nothing to do but eat coupons, deposit money and plan big schemes.

The individual solemnly cutting off a yard and a half at the counter thinks his life would be a very happy one if he were the owner, with nothing to do but take the profits, plan the advertising, arrange the labor problem, do the buying, etc.

The soldier in the ranks everywhere, in the real army that fights, in the army of industry, is apt to envy the general.

He is apt to think that the man who gets up when he likes, goes to bed when he likes, does what he likes, apparently, HAS AN EASY, COMFORTABLE LIFE IN COMPARISON WITH HIS.

But the death of poor "Chick" Stahl shows the other side of the medal. It teaches the man who makes a living with his hands that that is not always the hardest, most painful way of making ends meet.

"Chick" Stahl was happy, healthy, normal, fond of life, AS LONG AS HE ONLY PLAYED BASEBALL. He was a good player, he had a fine, well-developed body. He was faithful in practice, reliable in playing the game. Unfortunately for him he was made MANAGER of the Boston baseball team.

HE NO LONGER WAS EXPECTED SIMPLY TO PLAY BALL, BAT HARD, RUN FAST, EAT CAREFULLY AND SLEEP WELL. HE ALSO HAD TO THINK.

It became part of his duty to do the planning, HE WAS THE GENERAL. HE FOUND HIMSELF RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MISTAKES OF OTHERS.

He found that he had to bear the unjust criticism of those that watched the game.

He found that he got little praise when things went well, AND A GREAT DEAL OF BLAME WHEN THEY WENT BADLY.

In other words, "Chick" Stahl was no longer a baseball player, a worker with hands and legs and eyes.

HE WAS A WORKER WITH HIS BRAIN, a planner, an organizer, A MAN CARRYING RESPONSIBILITY.

In short, "Chick" Stahl was like every other man who has the RESPONSIBILITY FOR MAKING HIS BUSINESS SUCCESSFUL. He ceased to be a soldier in the ranks and became a General. AND HE FOUND THE GENERAL'S LIFE WAS NOT AS HAPPY AS HE THOUGHT.

He learned that the man who has the last say, THE MAN WHO HAS GOT TO MAKE UP HIS MIND AND DO IT WISELY, the man upon whom the blame falls, the man WHOSE BRAIN CARRIES THE REAL LOAD, often works harder than the man digging the ditch, even if his muscles do rust and he seems to be having an easy time of it.

Poor "Chick" Stahl, toward the end, got worried and nervous, he kept telling his friends that he couldn't stand the mental strain. He was willing to play, do his share, behave himself, BUT HE DIDN'T LIKE TO HAVE TO CARRY THE WORRY OF MANAGEMENT.

Finally he gave up the management altogether, and one better able to stand mental work took his place.

But it was too late. The poor fellow pitifully told his friends that he felt that his mind had been hurt, and before they suspected his purpose or could interfere with it he had killed himself.

We don't, of course, want to discourage men from any form of ambition. The more ambitious the man the better. And we hope that the greatest possible number of our readers will develop into men capable of standing responsibility of moving higher up, and doing their work with their brains, rather than with their muscles.

But we quote the case of "Chick" Stahl, the baseball player, by way of counseling those that haven't got as far ahead as they might. We quote his case also to remind our fellow citizens that the man who appears to have a very easy place, WHO APPEARS TO WORK VERY FEW HOURS A DAY, MAY BE WORKING IN REALITY HARDER, UNDERGOING A GREATER STRAIN THAN THE MAN ENGAGED IN THE MOST PAINFUL SORT OF MANUAL LABOR.

The doctor who feels upon his mind and heart the responsibility for patients, and especially for the lives of other men and women and children, has a heavy load to carry, though he doesn't do manual work.

The man who has on his brain the successful problems of a big business, the problem of providing wages for those that work, and profits for those that invest capital, HAS VERY HARD WORK INDEED, THOUGH HE MAY NOT MOVE AWAY FROM HIS DESK, OR SHOW THE STRAIN HE IS UNDER.

And above all, THE MOTHERS AND WIVES IN THE HOMES, RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CHILDREN, WORRYING TO MAKE ENDS MEET, FIGHTING THE CONSTANTLY INCREASING FOOD PRICES, ENDEAVORING TO KEEP THEMSELVES AND THEIR CHILDREN RESPECTABLE FOR THEIR HUSBANDS' SAKE, HAVE A VERY MUCH HARDER TIME OFTEN THAN THOSE HUSBANDS DREAM OF.

For RESPONSIBILITY in this world is what weighs heavily. And RESPONSIBILITY weighs very heavily upon the mother, more heavy even upon those that conduct the great and complicated affairs of the world.

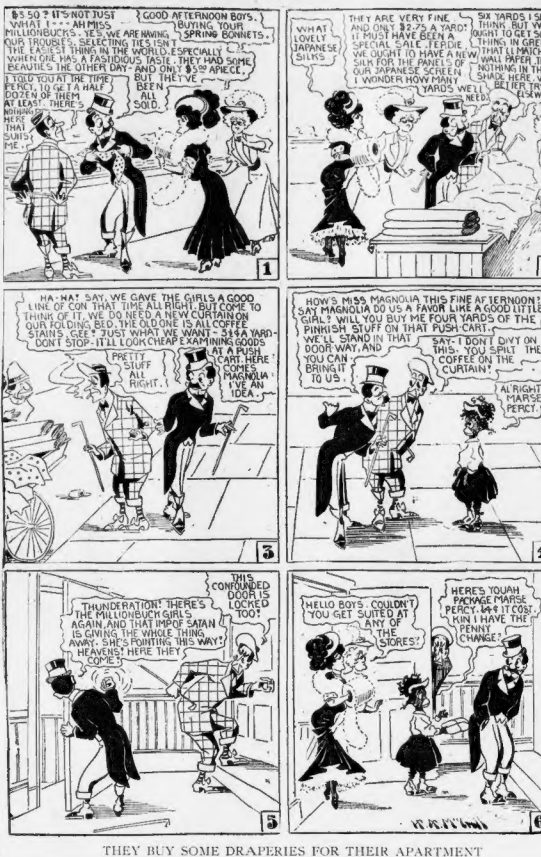

The hard manual worker who underestimates the strain under which his employer labors is often unjust.

And the husband who exaggerates his own efforts and underestimates the strain and responsibility resting upon the wife, is doubly and trebly unjust.

We may think as highly as we like of our own importance and of our own work, BUT WE SHOULDN'T FAIL TO REALIZE ALSO THE DIFFICULTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF OTHERS.

The Voice of the People— Why Fear It?

And Why Use Fraud to Keep It Silent?

Those persons and newspapers who think the people are not fit to govern themselves have begun a campaign of misrepresentation against a bill that would permit the voters to express their opinion on public questions by ballot.

Here are some of the lies they are telling about the bill and here also are the facts:

LIE NO. 1.—The bill allows the petitioners to frame a question in such a specious manner as to deceive the voters.

THE FACT.—The petitioners have nothing to do with framing the question. The question is to be framed by the Ballot Law Commissioners, who are appointed by the Governor.

LIE NO. 2.—The bill allows misleading questions concerning affairs which are not properly matters of public policy to be placed upon the ballot.

THE FACT.—No questions at all can be placed upon the ballot except by approval of the Ballot Law Commissioners. In other words, the Ballot Law Commissioners exercise what is virtually a CENSORSHIP over the questions. IF THEY DO NOT LIKE A QUESTION THEY CAN RULE IT OFF THE BALLOT ON THE GROUND THAT IT IS NOT A QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY.

LIE NO. 3.—A small number of people can "cumber the ballot" with questions.

THE FACT.—One thousand registered voters are required merely to get the question before the Ballot Law Commissioners. Another petition signed by five thousand registered and certified voters has to be presented before the question can be placed upon the ballot. In other words, SIX THOUSAND SIGNATURES OF REGISTERED VOTERS must be obtained and certified before the people will be permitted to vote upon any question, and not more than four questions can be placed upon the ballot.

(Only one thousand persons are at present required to place the name of a candidate for Governor upon the ticket. If they should five or six thousand persons be required to place a question upon the ballot upon which the people will have a chance merely to express their OPINION, when only one thousand persons can actually nominate a man for the powerful office of Governor.)

LIE NO. 4.—The bill is revolutionary. It is contrary to Massachusetts traditions.

THE FACT.—The bill is exactly in line with the old Massachusetts traditions. In the early days when such men as Samuel Adams and John Hancock were Representatives, and did actually REPRESENT the people, they received instructions as to their action on important matters from the voters themselves. The Constitution of Massachusetts, adopted in 1780, expressly provides that THE PEOPLE HAVE A RIGHT TO INSTRUCT THEIR REPRESENTATIVES.

LIE NO. 5.—The bill destroys representative government.

THE FACT.—It aids and strengthens REAL representative government. The people under this law would not enact legislation for themselves; they would merely suggest legislation. They would be able to show their lawmakers what kind of laws they believe in.

LIE NO. 6.—The people would not be informed upon the questions on the ballot and therefore could not vote intelligently.

THE FACT.—The people WOULD be informed—through the newspapers. There is still free speech in America. The pulpit and the platform are still open to the leaders of thought. WHAT CHANGE HAVE THE PEOPLE TO BE INFORMED CONCERNING THE CHARACTER OF THE MEN WHOM THEY ELECT TO POWERFUL OFFICE WHICH THEY WOULD NOT ALSO HAVE UPON THESE QUESTIONS?

The trouble with this bill is that it isn't radical ENOUGH. The people ought to be allowed not merely to express their OPINIONS of legislation, but they ought to be allowed to do what the Constitution of 1780 declared they had a right to do—INSTRUCT THEIR REPRESENTATIVES.
